

TaylorWessing

Break out session in course of the 5th Hamburg International Arbitration Day

THE QUALITY OF ARBITRATION HEARINGS IN A VIRTUAL WORLD hosted by

Taylor Wessing

22 MARCH 2021

9.45 am – 10.45 am CET

Arbitration is known and valued for its flexibility. This was demonstrated once again during the COVID-19-pandemic. Arbitral tribunals responded quickly, adapting to the new normal by embracing virtual hearings.

Greater use of remote working was already something under close consideration. It is recognized that efficient use of technology can save travel time and cost for the users often based in different global locations. But what impact does the virtual hearing have on the quality of arbitration proceedings? Does personal perception of witnesses and their testimony differ depending on whether a witness is physically present or connected via video? How does the physical absence of the participants affect settlement efforts? In a virtual hearing, is the arbitral tribunal equally capable of coordinating with each other or reacting spontaneously to unforeseen events? Does a "hearing at the desk" affect the parties' trust in the quality of the arbitration process?

We want to discuss all this with an international panel of esteemed arbitration practitioners who will share their experiences and views on this topic:

Lars Markert

Partner at
Nishimura & Asahi, Tokyo

Adam Baradon

Barrister at Blackstone
Chambers, London

Eva Kalnina

Partner at
Lévy Kaufmann-Kohler, Geneva

Nick Storrs

Partner at Taylor Wessing, London

moderated by Donata v. Enzberg,
Partner at Taylor Wessing, Hamburg

Registration: To join our event, please register online or send an email to our Events Team.

This event is part of the Hamburg International Arbitration Days which take place from 22 to 24 March 2021 online. For more information about further events, please visit <https://www.dispute-resolution-hamburg.com/> and <https://www.law-school.de/international/arbitration-day>